HOPKINS IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Community Walk with Dean DeWeese Featuring HopkinsLocal

Ted DeWeese, Dean of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and CEO of Johns Hopkins Medicine, led a community walk July 31 in Eager Park, followed by an Eager Park Concert Series performance by Isaac Parham & Friends Jazz. These walks provide an opportunity for Johns Hopkins leaders, faculty, staff, and students to walk in the neighborhoods around the Johns Hopkins campus to meet local residents and build bridges for future collaborations and partnerships.

Back to School Events and Uniform Drive

This year, JHU&M spread back-to-school cheer across the city, sponsoring and/or collaborating with a variety of groups to ensure students were ready for their first day back! Our annual Uniform Drive for Baltimore City Public Schools raised over $5400. Thank you to faculty, staff, and students for your generous donations.

Grandparents' Day Celebrations at Local Senior Centers

GCE was thrilled to partner with four local senior centers to host Grandparents' Day celebrations in September. Hopkins faculty, staff, and students volunteered to serve lunch, provide health information, participate in karaoke, and raffle off prizes at each of the events.

Hopkins Day at Camden Yards

Over 1,100 staff, students and faculty across JHU&M came out and showed their Baltimore Pride at Camden Yards on September 4 to watch the Orioles take on the Chicago White Sox. Dean and CEO Ted DeWeese started off the night by throwing out the first pitch.
